Global Money Week (GMW) is a worldwide celebration with local and regional events and activities aimed at inspiring children and youth to learn about money, saving, creating livelihoods, gaining employment, and becoming an entrepreneur.

What is the goal of GMW?

While the celebrations of GMW are concentrated in one week every year, the ideas, events, and lessons learned are intended to have a long-lasting impact. The goal is to promote the importance of financial literacy and the inclusion and empowerment of youth, in an effort to reshape finance and tackle the poverty trap that results from inadequate resources, knowledge, and education.

When is GMW taking place?

Global Money Week is held annually during the 2nd week of March. GMW 2016 celebrations will take place worldwide from March 14-20.

Who organizes GMW?

It is coordinated, supported and facilitated by the Child & Youth Finance International (CYFI) Team, but the events themselves are organized by schools, universities, financial institutions, government ministries, central banks, members of the civil society and communities of active youth worldwide.

Why celebrate GMW?

Your participation brings the world one step closer to ensuring financial inclusion for every child with access to financial services, the ability to develop money-managing skills, and the opportunity to have a reliable source of income.

Global Money Week 2016 Theme

GMW 2016's theme is 'Take Part. Save Smart!'

This year, Global Money Week continues the focus on the importance of saving – taking part in smart savings behavior helps children and youth to secure their futures.

Why save smart? Because: it is important for children and youth to build clever cost-careful habits from an early age in order to avoid financial exclusion and develop key money-managing skills for later in life.

Taking part in smart saving today offers a safer tomorrow; but how can we achieve this? Empower children and youth!

Global Money Week is an opportunity for everyone to get involved:

- Businesses and corporate companies - engage with future customers and encourage economic inclusion
- Policy makers and financial institutions - enable children and youth to access financial services
- Civil society and schools - organize money awareness events in your communities
- Parents and families - talk about money management with your kids
- Children and youth - have fun learning!

Take Part and help the next generation to Save Smart!

SECTION 2

Suggestions for Your Activities

Take Part! Begin a Local Activity. Join the Global Activities! Or, do both!

There are many ways how you as parents can be involve in Global Money Week Celebrations 2016.

Here are some suggestions:

- 1 How you can involve your children
- 2 How can you involve your children's school
- 3 How can you involve your colleagues and employer
- 4 How you can join our global activities

1 Involve your children

Involving your family in Global Money Week celebrations offers a great way to foster your children's economic education. Discuss with your children about how important it is for them to learn money habits for life and prepare them for their financial futures.

👍 How can you teach your children about money?

The benefits of parents and guardians teaching children good savings habits have life-long value, and help children and young people to develop smart money-managing skills and avoid financial exclusion later in life.

Some parents and guardians do not teach children about money because they feel uncomfortable discussing financial issues with children, do not have the time, or are concerned they do not have the economic knowledge or enough income to share advice with their children. Despite this, it is important for parents and guardians to teach their children about money matters – from purchasing groceries to paying for bills, from buying gifts to saving for a large purchase – to ensure they have the skills to shape their financial futures later in life.

👍 What should you teach?

Discuss the financial education of your children with their teachers by linking it to similar topics relating to the economic, social and livelihoods education.

👍 Tip! Financial Words all parents and guardians should teach their children: Saving(s), Budget, Loan, Debt, Interest, Credit/Credit Card, Taxes, Investment, Stocks, Spending, Earning, Sharing, Borrowing

How can parents and guardians teach?

👍 Have a Money Talk

Sit down with your kids and explain how the money world works. Talk about earning, spending, borrowing, sharing, and saving. Encourage them to set goals, so they learn what and why to save money.

👍 Take kids shopping with you

Markets, grocery, clothing or speciality store can be a great environment for a real life experience of how money is spent. Online shopping can also be a good example for explaining how spending works.

👍 Take kids to a bank with you

Ask the bank staff to guide you and explain how everything works and why.

👍 Teach kids to use pocket money wisely!

A great way to learn how to start managing money is for parents to give kids some, so you can practice budgeting, and comparing products and services before you spend.

EXAMPLE

Banking my parents programme

GMW is also a great opportunity for youngsters to share their learning about important money matters with their parents! During last year's GMW celebrations in Ghana, one of the children involved in Postbank's financial-awareness workshops went home and told her mother all about what she had learned that day. The mother was so impressed, she gathered other women from their village, and the very next day they opened Postbank accounts for themselves and all their children! The positive impact of GMW travels worldwide, to ensure youth are financially included!

2 Involve your children's school

Parent-teacher days and meetings are a great start to mention about GMW2016 to the teachers. If they are not yet aware about the Week, then inform them about it. You can suggest them the following ideas:

👍 Open Market

Children and youth can hold an Open Market at school -where they can run their own lemonade stands, sell homemade jewelry or baked goods. When starting their own small businesses, children should consider factors such as starting capital, inventory, payback plans, and operating expenses - a fantastic way to develop useful financial and entrepreneurial skills, whilst having fun.

👍 Organize drawing, photo or essay competitions

• Launch drawing competitions around creative themes like: 'My dream money', 'My dream bank', 'My money tree with dreams', to capture the artistic talent of other youth - then plan an exhibition during GMW.

• Launch a photo competition! Take fun photos with the GMW logos and share these with others.

• Suggest an essay competition on topics like: 'Why is it important to save?', 'What are you saving for?', 'Save today. Safe tomorrow.' 'If I were an entrepreneur, which business I would own?', 'My dream job in the future', 'My business idea'. If you have a school or community newspaper or blog, the winning articles can be published throughout the GMW celebrations.

👍 Books exhibition

Make a special exhibition of books at your school library, which teach children about money and savings. Books about well-known entrepreneurs can be informative and inspiring!

👍 Research projects

Give students research projects about 'Money history', 'Different currencies in the world', etc. Similarly, teachers could choose to teach children about different currencies and the history of money. Visits to money museum can be a great idea for an exciting educational day out too!

👍 GMW school video

A great way to get a range of students involved is by making a school-wide Global Money Week video, and sharing it with other youth worldwide via CYFI social media channels, to highlight your school's financial learning activities. Do not forget to tag 'GMW2016' and 'GlobalMoneyWeek.'

👍 Involve with local businesses, stock exchanges, banks or parliament

Involve your own company and host an event where employees can give inspiring speeches about their careers and the importance of personal development, learning, creativity, teamwork, savings, planning and money. Also, you can contact local businesses banks, stock exchanges or even parliament to plan visits with youth groups. This provides an interactive way to learn more about how these institutions work and youth can ask the questions they might be curious about.

👍 Youth Talks via Google Hangouts

Contact your partner schools or educational branches abroad and connect students over the Google Hangouts. You can call these online conversations as Youth Talks. You can also arrange Google Hangout 'Star Talks' with inspiring people, such as government and ministry representatives, celebrities, leading academics, etc. This offers a great opportunity for youngsters from all over the world to communicate with the people who inspire them, and ask questions about the financial topics that matter most to them. It also allows youth the chance to exchange knowledge, learn about each other's cultures and share their GMW celebrations!

👍 Youth Hour (youth speaking to youth)

Encourage your children to host Youth Hour at their school or university. Youth Hour would be a great platform for inspiring young people to share experiences regarding entrepreneurship, finance and other youth related topics with your peers. Suggest to live stream or record video material of the talks and share these via CYFI and GMW social media channels. We can post these videos to the GMW website, so all GMW followers can see what is happening around the world during the week.

👍 Expert Hour (academic speaking to youth)

Inspire your youngsters to initiate Expert Hour at their university. They could ask their professors to speak (10-20 minutes) with youth and share their expertise, ideas and research on youth financial inclusion, entrepreneurship, financial literacy and education. Suggest to live stream or record video of the talks and send them to CYFI Team so we can promote these videos via our social media channels and the GMW website. Expert Hour will be a fantastic way to share recent research results and initiatives with the rest of the world.

3 Involve your colleagues & employer

Suggest participation at GMW2016 to your marketing, events or corporate social responsibility team. They could take the lead by inviting local schools for company visit. This is amazing way for students to get an idea of real-life work experience in various offices. Additionally, some of your colleagues could visit schools and give inspiring speeches about their careers and the importance of personal development, learning, creativity, teamwork, savings, planning and money.

EXAMPLE CASE STUDY

Burberry Amsterdam Welcomed Students At Their Store

During Global Money Week 2015, the Burberry Amsterdam team welcomed more than 25 students from a local school to their store. The event started off with a quiz about various celebrities' first jobs to inspire young people and show them that every successful career starts from somewhere. Then students were asked to form six groups. Each group had to go through 6 stops through four floor store. In each stop there was a dedicated member from the Fashion Company team who enthusiastically introduced their work, told a personal story of their career path and answered all the questions youngsters had. In every stop students learned about different store sections and functions e.g 1) stockroom inventory management, 2)makeup and beauty overview, 3) menswear with knowledge of textile materials, 4) womenswear with an example of their signature product, 5) visual merchandising, and 6) technology. This engaging and interactive approach by the Burberry Amsterdam team made it very exciting and fun for the students! This store visit opportunity offered youth a valuable and inspiring experience. It gave them an opportunity to learn about a global brand and gain a better understanding of the world of work.

EXAMPLE CASE STUDY

Microsoft Cyprus Team Visited the MIC European University in Nicosia

On 16 March, Microsoft Cyprus hosted the first Global Money Week initiative in Cyprus. Held at the MIC European University in Nicosia, 40 students from the American International School Cyprus (AISC) and 40 students from the Grammar School were invited to attend a presentation organized by Microsoft Cyprus on how to become responsible and skilled economic citizens.

Following a welcome by the General Manager of Microsoft Cyprus, speakers from various departments gave inspiring talks introduction their jobs, described their chosen career paths as well giving tips on the importance of financial knowledge. Also, Microsoft's Interns from the Marketing and Communications and the Sales, Marketing and Services Group Departments, gave presentations about their experiences focusing on the Day in the Lives of Interns at Microsoft. The sessions were rounded up by questions from students.

In addition, each student was given special gifts courtesy of Microsoft which included power banks, notebooks and pens and GMW T-shirts. The two schools also received smart phones to give away to their top students.

38 Stock Exchanges celebrated and took part in GMW2015.

SECTION 4

Plan a Great Global Money Week!

If you would like to plan an event during Global Money Week, this section provides guide to help plan your activities!

Step 1 Create a Planning Team

Establishing a team of dedicated colleagues and volunteers who will help the event run smoothly. If your company has a marketing or communications department, they could help to plan and promote your GMW events.

Step 2 Choose an Event!

Schedule brainstorm session about the type of activities and events you could do during GMW2016. Feel free to get inspired by the activities mentioned earlier in this Toolkit, or come up with new ideas. Most of all – have fun with it!

This is also a great opportunity to involve children and youth into the planning to get their ideas on what they would like to do during the Week. Raise awareness amongst colleagues, partners, friends and family, in advance of the celebrations.

Step 3 Plan the Event!

Consider the logistics of the event, including transportation, venue, equipment, and budget. Discuss ways to save money and involve potential partners. Make a checklist to ensure all factors have been considered to make the event a success!

When choosing the date of your event, look for possibilities to coordinate with local organizations, institutions, and other individuals and groups. Send out Save the Date!

Step 4 Promote the Event

When publicizing your Global Money Week 2016 events, it is vital to promote it to your target audience effectively! From a large campaign to achieve wide-reaching exposure, to narrower outreach methods to appeal to a specific group, it is important to keep your target audience in mind.

Why not have a look at some of the promotional banners and posters on GMW website, as well as resources for contacting local press and financial institutions. You can find these here:

✔ www.globalmoneyweek.org 'Resources' section
Alternatively, you could ask colleagues or volunteers to create promotional posters as a pre-GMW event.

👉 Tips for planning your GMW event!

- Save the Date: March 14-20, 2016. Don't forget to schedule GMW to your annual event calendar!
- Contact your affiliated institutions, businesses, sponsors, and schools to inform them about the Week, and get them involved in GMW celebrations.
- Take fun photos and videos with GMW logos and share them with CYFI Team. GMW logos are downloadable here: ✔ www.globalmoneyweek.org 'Resources' section
- Get inspired by earlier GMW celebrations, by reading GMW Report 2015, GMW Report 2014 and GMW Report 2013. You can find these reports here: ✔ www.globalmoneyweek.org 'Resources' section

Step 5 Hosting the Event

Ensuring that the tasks of logistics, outreach, volunteer coordination and documentation are successfully accomplished guarantees a fun, educational, and ultimately successful event.

Make sure to take photos and videos! Share them online! Most importantly, have fun!

Step 6 Sharing Your Experience

Do not forget to collect and share media with CYFI and others. Remember, the Global Money Week photo, video or message with the most likes and shares on Facebook or re-tweets on Twitter may be featured on the CYFI website!

Having youth, colleagues, and associates reflect on their experiences is a good way to consolidate their learning. Encourage them to think about the financial processes they observe and experience themselves.

“Today we are taking our first steps as entrepreneurs. We will have a chance to test our business plans which we have so carefully crafted against the real market place. At the end of the day, some of us will be disappointed because of lower sales than we had anticipated, and some of us will be exhilarated because our revenues will surpass our expectation, but all of us by the end of this day will have learned an important lesson: earning money is a challenging task and those who persevere through their creativity, honesty and hard work will be the ones to ultimately succeed.”

– Otar Grigoryan, youth participant from Armenia, GMW2015

👍 How to work with the media?

Through media coverage you can promote the important work you are doing in your community, expand the reach of your message, and spread the word about Global Money Week 2016!

- Identify the story you want to tell – before you begin developing media outreach materials, consider your goals in gaining media coverage and define the focus you want to have on your activities.
- Communicate your message effectively – be prepared to tell your story and respond to questions. All media outreach materials should be clear, concise and persuasive, with a core set of messages.
- Create media outreach materials – different types of materials are used for different media outlets; create a live-read radio script for on-air announcements about your event, prepare a ready-made blog post article, or use the press release included in our press pack as an example of outreach material for printed publications.
- Create a media list for contact – contact media outlets and reporters directly to let them know about your GMW activities. Be strategic and pick those who are most likely to cover your event, and send tailored outreach materials by email to these reporters and outlets.

- Prepare a media kit for journalists – include all media materials you have prepared as a background to your business, organization or institution, your event, and Global Money Week. Media kits can be handed out before or during your event, or to those who are unable to attend but have responded to media outreach efforts.

👉 Tip! Keep in mind ‘pitch points’ when creating any outreach materials; the three or four most compelling points to share that will make someone want to learn more about your event, about GMW 2016, and about the Child and Youth Finance Movement.

For more information on working with media, visit www.globalmoneyweek.org ‘Media’ section

“I am very satisfied with the way the activity was conducted. I believe that the large number of young people, by taking part in this activity, ‘woke up’ and started thinking about finances.”

– Marina Šukovi, Gacko. Youth participant from Bosnia and Herzegovina, GMW 2015

“The visit to banks was really appreciated by headmasters in schools, and professional training centers. It widened the vision of young people about employment opportunities in banks. Children were amazed to discover video cameras in banks and get opportunities to talk to bank managers and other staff members. Some of them entered a bank for the first time, opened a bank account and got to save for their personal savings account.”

– Spotlight from Togo, GMW 2013
