VISITS TO MONEY MUSEUMS

Visits to money museums offer young people a great opportunity to draw on the past – learn about the history of money – to understand the importance of saving for their futures. GMW is a brilliant platform to share with others how you engage children and youth in your community to learn about money.

VISITS TO PARLIAMENTS

A valuable way to educate and engage youth in economic citizenship is to actively involve them in decision-making. Organizing youth visits to government departments (such as the Ministry of Finance or the Ministry of Education) and including them in activities such as participatory budgeting fosters understanding of how policies are made, and the impact these decisions have.

VISITS TO BUSINESSES

Student visits to business branches or head offices support learning about how different departments work, which kind of jobs employees do and which skills are needed. These visits are a great opportunity for youth to learn lessons about creating livelihoods, such as entrepreneurship tips and what it takes to be a good employer and/or employee.

SUGGESTIONS FOR YOUR ACTIVITIES

Read more: www.globalmoneyweek.org 'Events' section

Below you will see 3 sets of suggestions that will explain:

- 1 What you can plan at your school
- 2 GMW Classroom Materials
- 3 Involve parents and guardians

1 WHAT CAN YOU PLAN AT YOUR SCHOOL

There are no limits to what you can do! Here are some ideas for what you can plan at your school/institution.

👍 Open Market

Children and youth can hold an Open Market at school - where they can run their own lemonade stands, sell homemade jewelry or baked goods. When starting their own small businesses, children should consider factors such as starting capital, inventory, payback plans, and operating expenses - a fantastic way to develop useful financial and entrepreneurial skills, whilst having fun.

👍 Organize drawing, photo or essay competitions

Launch drawing, photo and essay competitions around creative themes like: 'My dream money', 'My dream bank', 'My money tree with dreams', 'Why is it important to save?', 'What are you saving for?', 'Learn.Save.Earn.' 'If I were an entrepreneur, which business I would own?', 'My dream job in the future' or 'My business idea.'

👍 Books exhibition

Make a special exhibition of books at your school library, which teaches children about money and savings. Books about well-known entrepreneurs can be informative and inspiring!

👍 Research projects

Give students research projects about 'Money history', 'Different currencies in the world', etc. Similarly, teachers could choose to teach children about different currencies and the history of money. Visits to money museum can be a great idea for an exciting educational day out too!

👍 Get in touch with local businesses, banks, stock exchanges or parliaments

Contact local businesses banks, stock exchanges or even parliament to plan visits with youth groups. This provides an interactive way to learn more about how these institutions work and ask the questions you might be curious about. Also, you can invite local entrepreneurs and business owners to schools to give inspiring speeches about their careers and the importance of personal development, learning, creativity, teamwork, savings, planning and money.

EXAMPLE CASE STUDY

Burberry Amsterdam Welcomed Students At Their Store during GMW2016 and GMW2015

During GMW2016 and 2015, the Burberry Amsterdam team welcomed more than 25 students from a local school to their store. The event started off with a quiz about various celebrities' first jobs to inspire young people and show them that every successful career starts from somewhere. Then students were asked to form six groups. Each group had to visit six stops throughout the four floor store. In each stop there was a dedicated member from the Burberry team who enthusiastically introduced their work, told a personal story of their career path and answered all the questions the youngsters had. In every stop students learned about different store sections and functions e.g 1) stockroom inventory management, 2) makeup and beauty overview, 3) menswear with knowledge of textile materials, 4) womenswear with an example of their signature product, 5) visual merchandising, and 6) technology. This engaging and interactive approach by the Burberry Amsterdam team made it very exciting and fun for the students! This store visit opportunity offered youth a valuable and inspiring experience. It gave them an opportunity to learn about a global brand and gain a better understanding of the world of work.

👍 GMW school video

A great way to get a range of students involved is by making a school-wide GMW video, and sharing it with other youth worldwide via CYFI social media channels, to highlight your school's financial learning activities. Do not forget to use hashtags #GMW2017 #GlobalMoneyWeek #LearnSaveEarn

👍 Youth Talks via Google Hangouts

Contact your partner schools or educational branches abroad and connect students over the Google Hangouts. You can call these online conversations Youth Talks. This offers a great opportunity for youngsters around the world to communicate with the people who inspire them, and ask questions about the financial topics that matter most to them. It also allows youth the chance to exchange knowledge, learn about each other's cultures and share their GMW celebrations!

👍 Youth Hour (youth speaking to youth)

Encourage children to host Youth Hour at school. Youth Hour would be a great platform for inspiring young people to share experiences regarding entrepreneurship, finance and other youth related topics with peers.

"Being able to visit real Entrepreneurs at their business place was unreal, I love Global Money Week." – Hussein Badr, student at Modern Education School from Egypt, GMW2015

Stock Exchange of Thailand (SET) welcomed children in GMW2016

For GMW2016 the Stock Exchange of Thailand (SET) participated for the first time, preparing and carrying out activities at the Inventory Investment Discovery Museum and the Maruey Knowledge & Resource Center. One of the activities included an interactive self-discovery museum called INVESTORY whose goal is to inspire children to learn about financial planning and investment, how to earn, save, spend, invest, and build awareness. The second activity organized by the SET in the Maruey Library called "Capital Market Living Library" was targeted to people from all backgrounds: investors, securities practitioners, and the general public. The overarching aim of the activity was to encourage all visitors to start saving, recommending some financial planning books, and building awareness of GMW.

Brazil's Stock Exchange BM&F BOVESPA welcomed students in GMW2016

During GMW2016 in Brazil, students visited the Brazil's stock exchange, BM&F BOVESPA. While at the stock exchange, they learned how the financial markets function and as well as the role of stock exchanges within financial systems. Additionally, students learned about banking products and services, and the importance of saving for the future by using formal financial services. The visit also included insightful stories about BM&F BOVESPA, its history and future and how it became one of the world's largest stock exchanges and the biggest in Latin America.

Hermann Wesselink College (HWC) in the Netherlands combined their activities with GMW2016

Students from the Hermann Wesselink College in the Netherlands welcomed other youth from Mounts Bay Academy, UK and I.E.S. Bilingue Antonio de Nebrija, Spain. This students exchange took place during GMW2016 which gave a great opportunity to combine activities with the Week. The host school organized a workshop where students had to work in groups. Each group was mixed up with representatives from the UK, Netherlands and Spain. The youth had to research and compare the value of money from their country with other two countries. They had to compare the findings and create posters to present their results. Many other cross-cultural tasks were planned for the students from all three countries by their economy teachers. These activities gave the youth a really international experience.

2 GMW CLASSROOM MATERIALS

Holding sessions as part of a classroom activity is a beneficial way for students to get a better overview of managing money wisely - budgeting, investing, spending, earning money, and developing entrepreneurial skills.

What is Economic Citizenship Education?

Economic Citizenship Education (ECE) is a combination of financial, social, and livelihood's education – building the knowledge, skills and competences of youth, for their economic, social and personal well-being. Global Money Week provides a valuable opportunity for teachers, educational practitioners and others to get involved in advocating for greater economic education for children and youth through the Week's activities, with the aim of fostering the long-term inclusion of financial, social and livelihoods skills and knowledge in their teaching.

The Child & Youth Finance International (CYFI) Team promotes ECE globally, and has developed a framework for linking ECE with access to appropriate financial services for young people to help them become financially capable and empowered economic citizens. We have created GMW Classroom Materials in collaboration with Aflatoun. These programs have been specifically adapted for the two age groups shown below. These files can be used for sessions to develop students' financial literacy and skills, or as part of a wider plan for incorporating financial education in to your teaching lessons.

Who can use these materials?

- 1) Teachers
- 2) Bankers who go to schools and give talks
- 3) Anyone else who is interested

GMW Classroom Materials are made available for two different age groups:

- 1) GMW Classroom Materials for students aged 10 -14
- 2) GMW Classroom Materials for students aged 15 -18

Please note that these classroom materials are suitable for many age groups. Please feel welcome to tailor them to your students' needs or get in touch with us if you would like to have further support from us.

How can you access to these GMW Classroom Materials?

All these materials are downloadable here:  www.globalmoneyweek.org/gmw-resources/gmw-classroom-materials.html

3 INVOLVE PARENTS AND GUARDIANS

Involving parents in school GMW celebrations offers a great way to include them in their child's economic education. Invite them to attend in your GMW events! Also, discuss with parents about how important it is to teach their children money habits for life and prepare them for their financial futures.

👍 How can you connect with parents?

There are many ways you can inform parents about GMW and its goal to promote the importance of ECE, financial literacy, and the inclusion and empowerment of youth, in an effort to reshape finance and tackle the poverty trap that results from inadequate resources, knowledge and education.

You can use a range of communications channels to reach out to parents about the topic: parent-teacher days/meetings; emails; school newsletters, newspaper, or website articles; school social media accounts or blogs.

👍 Why should parents teach children about money?

The benefits of parents and guardians teaching children good savings habits have life-long value, and help children and young people to develop smart money-managing skills and avoid financial exclusion later in life.

👍 What should they teach you about money?

By discussing the financial education of their children with teachers and youth leaders, parents and guardians can teach their children about similar topics relating to the economic, social and livelihoods education.

👍 Tip! Financial Words all parents and guardians should teach their children: Saving(s), Budget, Loan, Debt, Interest, Credit/Credit Card, Taxes, Investment, Stocks, Spending, Earning, Sharing, Borrowing

👍 Tips for getting your parents or guardian involved in GMW!

- Don't forget to ask parents and guardians to add GMW to their calendar!
- Let parents and guardians know in advance about the GMW and importance of discussing personal finance with you, so they can plan to get involved with your event and celebrations!
- Make use of the online resources available for parents and guardians, to inform and engage them in GMW2017.
- Ask parents to help!

HOW CAN PARENTS AND GUARDIANS TEACH?

👍 Encourage parents to have a Money Talk

Encourage parents or guardians to sit down with their kids and explain how the money world works. They can teach children about earning, spending, borrowing, sharing, and saving. It is useful for parents and guardians to motivate their kids to set goals, so they learn what and why to save money.

👍 Parents could go shopping with their children

Markets, grocery, clothing or specialty store can be a great environment for a real life experience of how money is spent. Online shopping can also be a good example for explaining how spending works.

👍 Parents could take kids on a trip to the bank

Bank staff could guide the family and explain children how everything works and why.
